THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN
FOR THE CAMPAIGN.
Reduced Terms!

At the request of many of our friends, throughout the State, and for the purpose of diffusing political light as widely as possible during the present year, we have decided to reduce the price of the WEEKLY OREGONIAN as follows:

For one copy till the Presidential election, $1 25 in coin, or $2 in currency.

For ten copies or more, to one address, at $1 each in coin, payments invariably to be made in advance.

These rates are much lower than those at which any paper has been offered in the State before, and are much less than we could afford to adopt, except for the expectation that our circulation will be largely increased, at an expense simply of additional paper and press work. And even if we are not remunerated, we shall have the satisfaction of doing something for the good of the Union, and of our State, and in our sphere of seeking to promote the success of the noble principles by which the Union party professes to be guided.

We ask our friends in every County to act as our agents in extending our subscriptions, and we assure them and all that our aim shall be to make our sheet worthy of support, full of valuable intelligence, and as true to pure and loyal patriotism as any paper published within the blessed domain of our Starry Flag and our Free Republic.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN is published this morning. It contains the latest telegraphic news from the East and California in detail, a selection of the best articles published in the DAILY OREGONIAN, and the corrected Market Reports, and a Weekly Review of the same.

The WEEKLY OREGONIAN contains thirty-six columns of reading matter being far greater than that published in any other journal in the State, and we aim to make it the most reliable newspaper, especially in regard to that which pertains to Oregon interests.

Single copies, 12½ cents. $3 per annum mailed to any part of the United States.

Judicial Nominations.

Our readers are aware that Judges Boise, Stratton and Wilson have been nominated for re-election, by the Union Convention, in their respective districts. It is hardly necessary for us to express our cordial and earnest approbation of the action which presents these gentlemen, as eminently worthy of the high position to which the people will elect them. We do not suppose that there will be any real or practical opposition to their return to the bench, upon which they have so uniformly given satisfaction, and proved that they are worthy of public confidence. We are aware that some have objected to opinions, pronounced judicially upon questions, in regard to which popular sentiment is unsettled; but while we believe a Judge is honest and intelligent, we do not feel that we have a right to denounce him, because he happens to have a mind differing from our own: indeed, we confess that we are inclined to cherish more lofty respect for judicial firmness, if conscientious, when it stands boldly against popular clamor. We admit, also, that we believe some of the Judges were wrong on the legal tender question in regard to taxes, but we believe with equally strong convictions, that by the proper legislation, the difficulty can be settled, and the general desire and popular opinion sustained, while the honest judgment of the Courts is approved.

But beyond and above the issues which are merely temporary, we regard, as of more vital importance, the great principles upon which are based the security and the enduring prosperity of our State. Without a safe and wise Judiciary, these will be afloat;—but with Judges, like those now nominated, the people of Oregon may feel confident that "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" will be sheltered and protected, and the sublime majesty of the law vindicated and insured.

A SENSIBLE REPLY.—The New York Independent has been widely accused of favoring amalgamation. Its editor, in reviewing an absurd pamphlet entitled "Miscegenation,"—a word which means the mixing of races,—which seems to have been written for the special benefit of Democratic apologists for slavery, says very wisely in reply to those who have made charges against him:

> "It is no part of the duty of Anti-Slavery men—or of other sensible men—to advice people whom they should marry, or not marry. It is, on the contrary, the duty of all men to allow all others, who wish to be married, to marry whom they wish. Marriage is an affair between the bride and the bridegroom—with, perhaps, a mother-in-law's advice thrown in. But beyond this, the interference of outside parties is impertinent. While, however, we do not advise the intermarriage of blacks and white, any more than of whites and whites, we hold that, if they choose to intermarry, it is nobody's business but their own. Further than this, we hold that before a white-skinned slave-master becomes the father of a black woman's child, he ought to be her lawful wedded husband."

It always seemed to us rather inconsistent, that none of the Northern ranters against amalgamation, ever found any fault with the practical working of the system which was developed on almost every slave plantation. There was nothing repulsive about that, because as its results, fathers could sell their own children, and brothers their own sisters, and then boast that slavery was a profitable institution!

Changeable Politics.

CORVALLIS, April 5, 1864.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

At the Union Convention in Albany last week, I saw a man who was so very officious, abusive and dictatorial, that he disgusted almost all the members. Two years before, he was in the Secesh Convention in this place seeking a nomination as State Printer, but failed because nobody had any confidence in his integrity or consistency as being sufficient even for a Democratic candidate. He then got mad and bolted part of his party ticket, but continued for a year or more to denounce the Administration, and to justify the Democratic party in its opposition to the Government.

I suppose somebody bought him up, as I have heard that for the last few months, he has been blowing on the Union side—but I confess I was astonished to see him at Albany as a member of the State Convention, for I do not think that loyal men should be obliged to have their deliberations or their actions controlled by unprincipled men of his stamp. He of course brought "an axe to grind," but I was delighted to see a lion-hearted patriot, who thoroughly understands the plans of the demagogue, throw it out doors, as unworthy of any consideration. So the renegade became furious again, cursed the Union organization and particularly abused the OREGONIAN because its publisher was selected as candidate for State Printer. Whether his wrath still continues or not, I have not heard, nor is it of much consequence, though I shall be disappointed if he does not turn up as a candidate in the Democratic Convention next week.

Now, is it right or fair that the Union sentiment of the State should be insulted by the presence of such a person? It seems to me that every county ought to feel a pride in being worthily and honorably represented, and should be unwilling to bear the stigma, which it assumes by selecting such a person as its representative. His support of any measure or of any candidate is likely to cause suspicion that some base or mischievous scheme is intended.

Yours, UNION.

We publish our correspondent's letter, not for the sake of its allusions to the person referred to, as he is beneath any notice, but to ask attention to the suggestions it contains, concerning the propriety of sending to our Conventions, those only whose devotion to the cause of the country is undoubted, and not of mere mushroom growth. Time-servers who are with us to-day, and fighting us to-morrow, as their interest may dictate, ought never to have any influence or position, by which they can do mischief. The Union party demands on the part of those who fill seats in its Conventions, unselfish integrity. It should not be managed by crafty knaves, who follow its fortunes, while it is popular, but are ready to stab it to the heart, as soon as it expresses its lack of confidence in them, or seems to be losing strength, perhaps through their meddling interference.

STATES PLEDGED TO ESTABLISH AGRICULTURAL COLLEGES.—The Secretary of the Interior reports as follows concerning lands donated for college purposes:

The States which have accepted the college land grants prior to the 30th of September, 1863, "in place," are as follows:

IN PLACE.	Acres.	IN SCRIP.	Acres.
Iowa	240,000	Rhode Island	120,000
Kansas	90,000	Illinois	480,000
Michigan	240,000	Kentucky	330,000
Minnesota	120,000	Vermont	150,000
Wisconsin	240,000	New York	990,000
		Pennsylvania	780,000
Total acres	930,000	New Jersey	210,000
		Massachusetts	360,000
		New Hampshire	150,000
		Connecticut	180,000

Requiring twenty-three thousand four hundred and thirty-five pieces of scrip, or some ninety volumes of records. Special certificates, with printed forms of selections, have been duly furnished to the States authorized to make selections within their limits; and the work of issuing scrip to the other States has progressed with great rapidity, the whole complement due Rhode Island, Kentucky, Vermont, and New York, have been prepared, whilst all due the other States above mentioned, it is expected, will be dispatched to the proper destinations before the end of December next.

It will be seen from this list that the States of Maine, Ohio, and Indiana, have lost their lands by default, as have also all the States south of Mason and Dixon's line, together with California and Oregon.—Prairie Farmer.

We think there must be some mistake in the foregoing statement, as the Legislature of this State certainly passed an act in 1862, intended to signify its acceptance of the grant proposed by Congress. We shall be very sorry, if by any accident, there has been any failure to comply with the technical conditions of the act of Congress, so that the Secretary of the Interior shall feel required to decide that Oregon has lost its share of the splendid donation offered to Agricultural Colleges.

THE GREAT AMERICAN CONFLICT.—The history of the war and the moral and political causes, which brought it upon the Nation, must be of vital interest to every citizen. Horace Greeley, of the New York Tribune, has written a work with the above title, which thoroughly and fairly investigates the principles involved, and faithfully narrates the progress of the war. His full ability to prepare such a history is beyond a doubt, and from the specimen sheets, which have been shown to us by W. H. Shaw, the publisher's agent, we feel justly authorized to recommend it, as an admirable and instructive book, which every intelligent family ought to have. It will soon be published, and so great is the anxiety to read it, that seventy thousand copies have been engaged in advance. It will be finely printed, on excellent paper, and illustrated by accurate engravings of prominent actors in the great rebellion. Mr. Shaw is authorized to receive subscriptions in this State and in Washington Territory, and is making a canvass for that purpose.

He desires also, as we learn, to appoint suitable and faithful sub-agents in his district.

ANOTHER OREGON PAYMASTER.—We learn that Dr. J. W. Drew, well known to our citizens as a prominent Democrat formerly, and of late an officer in the Provost Marshal's office, has been appointed a Paymaster in the Army. It is whispered that the appointment was made upon the application of the Oregon Senators, without the knowledge of McBride. Funny state of things!

ARE YOU INSURED?—Look to your warehouses, your homesteads and your lives! Have all insured. Then if fire comes, you can rest safely—if sickness or death comes, you can meet them without fear, knowing you are in these matters prepared. Go, get insured.

GOVENOR LYON.—A dispatch from Washington, dated February 26th, says:

Caleb Lyon, of Lyondale, nominated Governor of Idaho, by Lincoln, squeezed through the Senate to-day; Senator Conness crowding him hard with a speech resisting his confirmation.

THE REFUGEE ALBERT PIKE.—A letter from Arkansas gives the following interesting sketch of one of the most remarkable men who have lived in the Southwest:

He is now a refugee in the mountains of Southern Arkansas, and is said to be occupying his leisure time in the composition of two works—one on "Art of War," and another on "Civil Government," which, it is said, he proposes to publish. Soldiers who saw him in the battle of Pea Ridge, where he led the Cherokee Indians, whom he had seduced from their allegiance to the Government of the United States, described him as a noble looking, white haired man, of very imposing appearance. Citizens here tell me that he proved an utter failure as a military leader, and his friends here did not deny that he ran like a coward before the veterans of Curtis and Sigel on that bloody day.

Gen. Gantt said that Pike was a man of extraordinary genius—that he had seen him, during a term of court, meet his brother lawyers for an evening carousal, drink with them until the stoutest was "laid out" under the table, then seat himself, and, in the midst of their singing and roaring, draw up a bill in chancery, without an erasure or interlineation. He would do the same thing in court, apparently undisturbed by the noise of a trial in progress; but with all his genius and wonderful versatility of talent, he was utterly wayward and dissolute in his habits, and had spent half a dozen fortunes in reckless and prodigal excess. I was told by the citizens, that Gen. Pike had pocketed a hundred thousand dollars, the fees of a single lawsuit. His wife, who is now here, occupying a part of their old residence, has long since retired from society, and is, as I have been told by a lady who resides in this city, half insane—a mild maniac, who "wanders" in her talk whenever the conversation turns upon "Albert," as she still fondly calls him.

To a friend of her husband, who called upon her a few days since, anxious to aid her, she insisted that Gen. Steele had promised the day before to send her to her husband. "No," said the gentleman, "Gen. Steele will permit you to go to your husband, but he has not the transportation that he can spare to send you." "But the General promised to send me," she insisted, and did not seem to understand the distinction. "Oh, well," she finally said, "Albert will come back if they let him publish his book, which abuses both sides and sides with neither." All this interested me deeply, and my imagination ran backward over the path of a life whose heart sorrows made up one of those tragic histories which God alone has read. I recall my school boy enthusiasm for the young poet who wrote the "Hymns to the Gods" while a student at college, and which had been pronounced by an eminent scholar to be one of the most remarkable literary creations, considering the age of the writer, this country has produced.

Once young, highly educated, graced with personal accomplishments which entitled him to be called the "handsomest man in the Southwest," his magic touch had swept the lyre of the gods, compelling a busy, din-resounding nation to stop and listen in enraptured silence. Now, an exile from his home, a traitor to his country, the pusillanimous leader of red-handed savages against the valiant defenders of the Union and the old flag, and, to cap the climax of his infinite disgrace, deserting the savage victims of his silver-tongued, satanic eloquence, and running like a coward in the day of battle!

> "So fallen! so lost! the light withdrawn
> Which once he wore;
> The glory from his gray hairs gone
> Forevermore!"

THE EXAMPLE OF DANIEL [illegible] course of this great man, in a memorable period of his life, is thus described by an orator of kindred genius and patriotism,—Rufus Choate, in his Eulogy of Webster, pronounced in the United States Circuit Court:

He came to Congress after the war of 1812 had begun, and though probably deeming it unnecessary, according to the highest standards of public necessity, in his private character—and objecting in his public character to some of the details of the policy by which it was prosecuted, and standing by party ties in general opposition to the administration—he never breathed a sentiment calculated to depress the tone of the public mind; to aid or comfort the enemy; to check or chill the stirrings of that new, passionate, unquenchable spirit of nationality, which then was revealed, or kindled to burn till we go down to the tombs of States.

A PARALLEL.—Said Dr. Eddy, of the Northwestern Christian Advocate, recently to a friend, "I think there is a remarkable parallel in the case of Paul who was bitten by the adder on the Isle of Melita, and the President of the United States. Both were men, to human seeming, most unlikely to be the chosen of God for their good leadership. Mr. Lincoln, like the Apostle, sailed into the terrible Euroclydon, which burst in terrific fury, and to his wise counsel the lives of all on board are due, and, I believe an 'angel of God stood by him.' The Island of Emancipation was reached, and 'the barbarous people showed much kindness.' But as Abraham was seeking the comfort of the storm-tossed, the viper of Copperheadism (and it is interesting to see how alike the two snakes are) came out and fastened upon him. The terrified people looked to see him swollen and fall down dead; but he did not cease his work, but simply shook off the reptile into the fire. The villainous snake came off second best."

"WHERE WILL YOU GO TO?"—An Indian who spoke excellent English, appeared before the Police Magistrate yesterday as witness against a whisky seller. It was very desirable to ascertain if the witness understood the nature of an oath, and the Magistrate asked:

"Do you understand English?"
"Yes."
"Are you a Christian?"
"I don't know."
"Have you a priest or teacher?"
"Yes; Mr. Garrett teaches me."
"Do you understand the nature of an oath?"
"Yes."
"Suppose you were to tell a lie, where would you go to?"
"Go to the d——l!" [Roars of laughter.]

The witness' evidence was taken.—Victoria Chronicle.

DIMENSIONS AND POPULATION.—Denmark is 322 miles long, 30 to 108 in breadth, enclosing an area of 21,000 square miles. American readers will better understand these dimensions by the comparative statement that this equals the aggregate area of Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut. The military force of Denmark on a war footing is given at 80,000.

There are from five to six feet of snow on the Placerville and Henness routes, across the Sierras.

We have no later eastern reports than those you received by the last steamer.

Ridgely Greathouse was re-arrested by the Provost Marshal, at Yreka yesterday. It is conjectured the object of his arrest, is to try him by a military commission for the violation of three different oaths of allegiance taken previous to the Chapman piracy affair.

CHICAGO, April 6.—At Washington on the 4th the Supreme Court to-day, in the case of Charles Fossatt, appellants, vs the United States, the decision of the Court was delivered by Justice Nelson. It establishes the southern and eastern boundaries of Fassatt's grant including the New Almaden Quicksilver Mine. The Court orders a decree confirming the survey, of December 1860, filed in July following.

The agents of the Sugar Refinery, after selling largely of crushed sugar to-day, owing to the extraordinary demand, refused further sales. The sugar market is much excited.

Grain and produce quiet and unchanged.

A Salt Lake telegram reports that a party of Boise emigrants were attacked by the Indians, sixty miles from Fort Hall, on the direct road from the east to Boise. The Indians were whipped.

LATER FROM BITTER ROOT.—A gentleman named Smith arrived from Bitter Root on Wednesday. He confirms the statements about the Kootenai mines, and the continued rush of men in that direction. He says the emigration from Beaver Head was constantly moving when he left Bitter Root, and that the Kootenai will have a large population early the present season.

In relation to the executions by the Vigilance Committees, so far as he knows twenty-seven men had been hung in all. Six of these were pursued from Beaver Head to Hell Gate, and caught and hung at the latter place. The Committee had information which they deemed reliable, that no less than one hundred and two men had been murdered and robbed the last season by this organized band of desperadoes, and being without a Judge (Judge Edgerton having abandoned his post and gone to Washington,) they settled upon the principle that "self preservation is the first law of nature," and organized to rid the country, if possible, of the last vestige of this band. In this whirlpool of excitement, and without all due forms of law, it could not be expected that even all innocent men should escape while bringing the guilty to justice, and from all we can gather, we fear some innocent men have been made victims of the revenge of this Committee.—Lewiston Age.

DON'T WANT THEM TO VOTE.—A bill is before the Michigan Legislature providing for the voting of the soldiers of that State. The Copperhead members are opposing its passage. They don't want the gallant volunteers to vote. They of course swear it is unconstitutional. So they said in Iowa. So they said in Ohio. So they said in New York, and everywhere else. What wise logicians are the Copperhead leaders! Any orator that can carry a ballot inscribed "Dem. Voter" for them. But the moment a man proves that he values his rights as an American citizen by volunteering to defend them, he becomes unfit to express his opinion at the ballot box. That's how they reason. They don't perceive that their logic proves them traitors, as palpably as logic possibly can.—Burlington (Iowa) Hawkeye.

GOOD FOR SPURGEON.—The Rev. Mr. Spurgeon recently comforted his hearers in the following manner:

> Lately a great deal of infidelity had broken out in the church; he thanked God for it. It seemed as though God had let the devil loose among them to stir them up to renewed exertion. He trusted that God would deliver them from a sleeping devil, for a roaring devil was a blessing rather than the reverse.

This will apply very well to the rebels and the rebellion. It seems as if God had let the devils loose that we might duly appreciate a Republican Government, and that slavery might be wiped from the land. The devils have been sleeping about Paducah, Kentucky, for some time, but they got loose again the other day, and the effect will be good for the Government.—Marysville Appeal.

EXPLANATION.—The Governor, as Su intendent of the Penitentiary, has sent statement of facts in regard to the prison g of a discharged convict, in which he say

"The man referred to was pardoned, the pardon placed in the hands of his frie who was directed to take it to the conv with a letter to the officer in charge of Penitentiary, and if the convict had any s able clothes which he brought with hi the Penitentiary, to have them put on; if n to return with him to my office, and I wo go with him to a clothing store, and purch some that would fit him. The friend took pardon and letter, and soon returned with convict in striped pants. Immediately suitable suit of clothes was purchased a given to him, and the striped pants return to the Penitentiary. His being "accomp nied by his wife and child" was entirely voluntary matter on her part. As to furnis ing discharged convicts "with small su of money," the law makes no such pr vision, but in some instances, when the pe sons discharged have had no means or frien the officers of the Penitentiary have furnishe money from their own pockets to pay the e penses of such persons, for a short time, u til they could get into business."

We cheerfully publish the foregoing, as th Governor rather too sensitively seems to sup pose some reflection was cast upon the officer of the Penitentiary, when there was no such idea whatever, and also to show that as n public provision is made to enable discharge or pardoned convicts to start an honest lif anew, there ought to be some one, or som several, in our community, who will feel it a matter of philanthropic and christian duty to extend a helping hand to a fallen brother, when he is ready to rise again.

THE JENNY JONES LIBEL SUIT.—In the cas of the 30 casks of ale, and 20 casks of porter, seized on the Jenny Jones, the firm of Ladd, Reed & Co. yesterday presented their petition to the Judge of the United States District Court, for a remission of the forfeiture. District Attorney McGraw, and Deputy Collector Parker waived notice and appeared at once, when the cause was heard. The Judge has prepared his statement of the facts, and directed the Clerk to transmit it to the Secretary of the Treasury. We have not space for the whole of it, but it shows substantially that the petitioners are an old and reputable firm in Portland, were ignorant in fact of the act of 1799, prohibiting the importation in packages of less than six dozen bottles each. That they made the importation with no intention to make unlawful gain to themselves, or to defraud the United States, but without proper caution and prudence. That the Master of the Jenny Jones was advised at Victoria that the shipment was unlawful, and he refused to ship it, but was afterwards led to change his mind, upon the assurance of the shippers, Anderson & Co. of Victoria, that it had been ordered by a responsible house, and was all right, and the further statement of Allen Frances, the American Consul at Victoria, that the shipment was lawful.

THE FALKENBERG.—The damages which this barkentine sustained at Couch's wharf, on her last trip to this port, by a collision of the steamship Oregon, have all been repaired, except the painting, and work of finishing, and the vessel is now in as good condition as before the accident occurred. The present trip has been attended with great severity of weather. When she had laid off the Bar five days the pilot reached her in apparent calm, but in an almost incredibly short space of time the fiercest kind of a storm raged, and the pilot was on board three days longer, before they crossed into the river.

WILLAMETTE THEATRE.—The new drama of "Leah, or the Forsaken" will be produced to-night at the Willamette Theatre. This piece is a translation from the German, and has lately been performed with great success in the Eastern States, and also in London, where the American actress, Miss Bateman, sustained the part of Leah. The action of the drama is supposed to take place in Austria, about two hundred years ago, when persecution against the Jews was rife. We expect to see the house filled to night.

PERSONAL.—Edward A. Temple, long and favorably known at the County Clerk's office, in this city, as an accommodating and faithful Deputy, has accepted an appointment as Clerk in the Quartermaster's Department at Fort Vancouver. We predict that he will become a capable officer, when he has fully learned the "matching" business.

FINE YACHT.—Mr. A. B. Hallock launched his new half-deck sailing yacht, at the foot of Stark street yesterday. The workmanship displayed upon this little craft is highly creditable, and she is undoubtedly the best boat of the kind afloat, in these waters.

CORONER'S INQUEST.—The dead body of E. D. Brezee was found on the 7th inst., in Pollock precinct, Clark county, W. T. An inquest was held thereon, and the verdict was that he came to his death from some cause unknown to the jury.

CHURCH DEDICATION.—The choir of the Catholic Church of this city started for Salem yesterday morning, where they will assist in the exercises of dedicating a new Church edifice, to-morrow.

EXPLANATION.—The Governor, as Superintendent of the Penitentiary, has sent us a statement of facts in regard to the prison garb of a discharged convict, in which he says:

"The man referred to was pardoned, and the pardon placed in the hands of his friend, who was directed to take it to the convict, with a letter to the officer in charge of the Penitentiary, and if the convict had any suitable clothes which he brought with him to the Penitentiary, to have them put on; if not, to return with him to my office, and I would go with him to a clothing store, and purchase some that would fit him. The friend took the pardon and letter, and soon returned with the convict in striped pants. Immediately a suitable suit of clothes was purchased and given to him, and the striped pants returned to the Penitentiary. His being 'accompanied by his wife and child' was entirely a voluntary matter on her part. As to furnishing discharged convicts 'with small sums of money,' the law makes no such provision, but in some instances, when the persons discharged have had no means or friends the officers of the Penitentiary have furnished money from their own pockets to pay the expenses of such persons, for a short time, until they could get into business."

MARKET REPORT AND REVIEW.

Friday morning April 8th.

Trade for the past week has been dull in the extreme—very little doing among merchants, and the roads are in such bad condition that few teams are arriving from the country with produce.

The Wholesale Prices remain unchanged, with the exception of an advance of 1 cent on lard in kegs, and a slight decline in crushed and powdered sugars.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED
STOMACH BITTERS.

CONCLUSIVE PROOF
OF THE EFFICACY OF
HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS!
PROTECTIVE MEDICATION
Great Truths
—IN—
SMALL COMPASS!

WHAT THE BITTERS ARE.
A pure, delightful, Vegetable Balm,
To cheer the spirits and the nerves to calm,
Protect the system from Miasma's bane,
Rouse torpid Nature and the strength sustain.

THEIR INGREDIENTS.
Juices of plants, roots, barks, of virtues rare,
By chemic art expressed with patient care,
And the mild spirit of the soundest rye—
Purest of all diffusive stimuli.

RESULTS OF THEIR USE.
Digestion rallies, appetite revives,
The food assimilates, the patient thrives,
Dyspepsia vanishes, with all its throes,
And peaceful sleep succeeds disturbed repose.

EFFECTS ON THE LIVER.
The bilious sufferer, languid, listless, pale,
Physicked for years, perhaps, without avail,
Finds in the BITTERS all he asks or needs,
And lives to smile at doctors and their creeds.

OPERATION ON THE BOWELS.
Relaxed, constricted, or the seat of pain,
These organs should not, for one day, remain.
The cause of each extreme you can expel—
The BITTERS tone and regulate as well.

EFFECT ON THE DEBILITATED.
The flaccid muscles firmness soon acquire,
The frame gains flesh, the eye resumes its fire,
Strength to the limbs, hope to the heart returns,
Till staff and crutch the convalescent spurns.

BROKEN CONSTITUTION.
The constitution tried by pain or care,
Or wild indulgence, is not repair;
The genial Tonic, as the healthful dews
Quickens parched herbs, its wasted power renews.

CHILLS AND FEVER.
Damp, cold, exposure to the malarious fog,
Brings on of ills a fearful catalogue;
But intermittents, whatsoe'er their kind,
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS scatter to the wind.

SICK HEADACHE.
This torment dire, that all enjoyment kills,
Yields not to pungent scents or drastic pills,
'Tis from the stomach that it takes its rise;
Tone with the BITTERS, and the anguish flies.

WANT OF APPETITE.
Without due nourishment life's pulses wane,
The blood grows thin and dullness clouds the brain;
But this Elixir sets the system right,
And "Good Digestion waits on Appetite."

THE BITTERS AFTER SICKNESS.
Exhausting fever leaves its victim low,
And, unassisted, Health's return is slow;
Then with the Bitters weakened Nature aid,
For in each drop vitality's conveyed.

AS A GENERAL PREVENTIVE.
By night and day, on river, sea or land,
In instant peril of disease we stand;
But its dread arrows harmless seem to glide
Past all with this invigorant fortified.

IMPURE WATER, ETC.
Roam! through the world, through every climate range,
Here is the antidote 'gainst every change,
Water impure it tempers, and inures
Men in all hardships to all temperatures.

SEA SICKNESS.
Who has not felt how feebly words essay
The qualms one feels on shipboard to portray?
Dread them no more, defy old Neptune's power,
The Bitters cure the nausea in an hour.

AN UNADULTERATED TONIC.
Of all the liquors borne across the sea
Not one—mark that—from acrid poison's free,
These Bitters stand 'mid stimulants alone,
Powerless to irritate, though prompt to tone.

A MILD APERIENT.
Remember, too, aperient root and herb,
Are blent with those that relaxation curb,
In this rare mixture; give this fact due weight,
That while the Bitters tone, they regulate.

A GENTLE CORRECTIVE.
If on the stomach food to acid turns,
And pungent gas the inner membrane burns,
This grand corrective soon removes the ban,
And from the heartburn frees the inner man.

A SAFE AND GENTLE ANODYNE.
Why not with all the opiates dispense,
That shake the nerves and paralyze the sense,
When these rare BITTERS soothe both mind and frame,
Inviting both to yield to slumbers claim?

THE WORLD'S OPINION.
Touching the BITTERS, this grand fact is clear,
Their fame fills all the Western Hemisphere,
Known in all lands, washed by its oceans twain,
HEALTH, HOPE and VIGOR, follow in their train!

AVOID COUNTERFEITS.
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS share the common fate
Of all things good. Impostors imitate,
Of these beware. Discreetly use your eyes,
From honest houses purchase your supplies.

CAUTION!
The Government Endorsement.
In order to guard against the impositions, the public are requested to take special note of the beautifully engraved proprietary stamp, through which the Government of the United States officially authenticates every bottle of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. This shield thrown by the Government over the proprietors and the public for their joint protection, is placed conspicuously across the cork and over the neck of each bottle, and cannot fail to strike the eye of the most casual observer. Nothing that purports to be HOSTETTER'S BITTERS can be genuine unless the stamp is there.

It is also proper to state that the BITTERS are sold exclusively in glass, and never under any circumstance by the gallon or the barrel. Impostors and imitators are abroad, and the only safeguard the public have against them is to see that the Bitters they buy bear the engraved label and note of hand of Messrs. HOSTETTER & SMITH, and the stamp above mentioned.

For Idaho

A young gosling of a fellow, says the local of the St. Louis Republican, writes the following:

Heigh-ho for Idaho!
When the sun melts the winter snow
And the earliest April violets low,
Then Simmie and Bobbie and I and Joe
Shall hatch up our wagons and teams and go
Over the plains to Idaho!

Ah, yes, beautiful Idaho!
There is the place to gather the 'dough;'
Where any sort of a fellow can show
His three or four thousand dollars or so—
Where scraping or knocking with shovel or hoe,
You turn up a color at every blow.

Hip—ah! Bully for Idaho!
The old man's always croaking "go slow"
But as soon as the grass on the meadows shall grow,
I think that I and the boys 'll go—
For, from British Possessions to Mexico!
You can't find such diggings as Idaho!

Hurrah! hurrah for Idaho!
The girls—shall we take them along with us? No!
What will they do if we leave them so?
While we are going to and fro
They may marry somebody else (I know)
Before we get back from Idaho!

Anyhow here's for Idaho!
If the girls marry, no tears will flow
And when we get able the shiners to show
Others 'll smile on us—don't that so?
But if there's no danger that they say 'no,'
We'll marry the darlings before we go.

I'm off for the gulches of Idaho!
Good bye Gracie and farewell Chloe!
Do you think the days 'll go by so slow?
But then you forget the joy we shall know
And the summer whose golden glory shall glow
When we get back from Idaho!

For a "Slow-Coach" Family

Don't take a newspaper, don't read one of any kind. If you hear persons discussing this or that great battle, ask stupidly what it all means. Emulate Rip Van Winkle, steep your senses in mental or moral oblivion and pay no attention to what is passing about you, in this way you may save two or three dollars—the price of a paper—and lose five hundred or five thousand dollars by not being informed about markets, supply and demand, and a thousand other things as essential to an enterprising man as light and air. If you have children, don't take any paper for them, tell them 'book larnin' ain't no 'count.' Let them tumble in the highway unwashed, uncombed, and in rags and tatters. If they don't graduate in the State Prison, it will be through no fault of yours. If you are a farmer, plough, sow and reap as your stupid old father did before you, scoff at agricultural papers, and sneer and deride at progress of all kinds, then if you do not succeed in making other people think that they are all wrong and that you alone are sagacious, it must be that the world is curiously awry, and needs reforming badly. The sooner you undertake it the better.

By not reading papers, you will succeed if a farmer, in having the finest crop of knotty, wormy apples that can be found, potatoes that would take the prize at a fair for the rot, cabbage that are all leaves and no head, turnips that are destroyed in the shoot by the worms, hay mouldy and musty, because you despised barometers, and cut it just as the mercury was falling, corn half a crop because you exhausted the land with it for years, and starved Nature to such a pitch that she had nothing to yield in return, all these calamities and many more will befall you because you don't keep pace with the times. You call it "hard luck," but men of common sense call your course by a name you never heard of—stupidity, that's more 'book larnin'.'"

A man that does not take a paper of some kind or another in this time of the world must expect to be a prey to all sorts of swindlers, a victim to bad management, and out of spirits, out of pocket, temper, money, credit, in short, everything under the sun that tends to make life bearable. The newspaper is the great educator of the people, after all, so let us exclaim—"THE PRESS FOREVER."—Scientific American.

THE RAID UPON PADUCAH, KY.—The telegraph informs us that the rebels, 4,000 strong, attacked Paducah, on the 23d of March and that they were repulsed by Colonel Hicks, the fight closing at midnight, with the destruction of the town. Paducah is situated in McCraken county, on the Ohio, and a few miles above Metropolis City, which is on the opposite side of the river, in Illinois—that part known as "Egypt." This raid is the first fruits of the late act of Gov. Bramlette, in which he declared himself opposed to raising colored troops in that State, by order of the General Government. This position has given confidence to the secession element of the State, as well as encouragement to the Kentucky soldiers in the rebel armies. A demonstration of this kind was expected to follow Gov. Bramlette's proclamation, but no one could know where the first blow would be struck. It has fallen, it seems, upon the people of this little town, who prove the first martyrs to the neutrality position of the Kentuckians. It is well, in our opinion, that Paducah was purged, though many innocent men and women have suffered. The great crime of slavery has yet to be atoned by the people of that State, and this is the first cup of bitter which has been brought to the traitors' lips. We have no idea that this lesson will bring reason to the politicians of that State, at the head of whom stands the invulnerable Prentice of the Louisville Journal. Her people have yet to suffer and mourn. Her towns are destined to be burned by rebel friends, and her rich fields swept of their crops by the horde of sympathizing invaders. Before she stands disenthralled and purified, and made sensible of the fiat of heaven, it will be too late to preserve any other fate than a conquered province. The rebels are determined to punish her terribly. Kentucky mourns for slavery to-day.—Marysville Appeal.

RECEPTION OF GENERAL HANCOCK AT PHILADELPHIA.—General Hancock received a splendid reception lately from the city authorities of Philadelphia. He replied at length to an address of welcome from Mayor Henry. Among other things he said:

It may well be believed that this year will witness the last act of this great rebellion. Now, therefore, is the time for every one to devote his energies for a while to the service of his country. It may not be long that his services will be required. It will be but for a short time if every one lends a helping hand. If there are not patriots enough left to vindicate this Government, the country does not deserve the liberal institutions with which it has been blessed. Recollect, if the attempt to re-establish the supremacy of the Government fails the rebellion will succeed! You may not know this fact, but it is nevertheless true, that at Gettysburg, the grand historic battle of this war which probably did more than any other recent event to unite our people in favor of the prosecution of the war, in the last grand descent made by the hosts of the enemy on our lines it was reserved to the Philadelphia regiments to receive the first clash and shock of battle. They went down before the avalanche because their numbers were too weak to resist it. They were avenged, however, by their comrades in the second line. Let me ask you how to form a second line, and avenge those heroes who have fallen by the foe.

Injured Innocence

[From the New York Tribune February 2 th.]

When Abraham Lincoln started in February 1861, from Springfield for Washington, Southern journals freely and openly predicted that he would never live to be inaugurated there as President. Jeff Davis had left that city a month or so before, after giving unmistakable intimations that he claimed it as the prospective Capital of the Southern Confederacy. To a Yale College student who asked him what would become of Washington in case of disunion he replied in substance that the city would revert to Maryland, and Maryland would go with her slaveholding sisters. Accordingly, he held on to his pew in the aristocratic Episcopal Church because he expected very soon to need it again. And that war might have been indefinitely postponed if the Confederates would have consented to let Fort Sumter be supplied with provisions, either by our Government directly or by buying them in Charleston market. It is pretty well established that Lincoln would even have withdrawn the garrison if the Confederates would have agreed to leave the fort empty when all pretext of apprehension from it by South Carolina would have been brushed away. But no—the Confederates would accept nothing less than an unconditional surrender into their hands with liberty to arm and garrison it as they should see fit, and this being declined Beauregard opened fire upon it (April 12 1861) under express orders to reduce it from Jeff's War Department at Montgomery. These orders sent a thrill of rapture through the entire Confederacy. News that fire had been opened having been received at Montgomery a great meeting was held in that city in the evening to exult over the fact, and Leroy Pope Walker, Jeff's Secretary of War being called out predicted that the Confederate flag would float in triumph over Washington within a month from that date. And the seizure of the Norfolk Navy Yard the victorious rush on the Federal Arsenal at Harper's Ferry the rapid pushing forward of Confederate troops from Charleston, Mobile and Montgomery to the banks of the Potomac—which began in a week after the fall of Sumter—the murderous Secession riots of Baltimore, the impudent demand of her Mayor and Young Christians that no more Federal troops should be marched or transported across the territory of Maryland—all pointed to one result. The Richmond Examiner of April 23d called for an instant Confederate advance upon and capture of Washington so that the 'Illinois Ape and the arch traitor Scott' might be caught before they could run away North. And, more than two months earlier Jeff himself speaking at Jackson (Miss.) while on his way to be inaugurated at Montgomery said he hoped there would be no war, but, if there were any, it should be fought not on Southern but on Northern soil. The Confederate journals reiterated this threat in every conceivable form and with every variety of insulting concomitant. Three years have not yet passed since such talk was universal in rebeldom, and meantime the loyal States have been repeatedly and formidably invaded—always with disastrous results. Lee's first advance into Maryland, checked at South Mountain and definitely stopped at Antietam. Beauregard's blow at Shiloh ending in his retreat to Corinth, followed by his flight southward from that stronghold. Bragg's bold dash across Tennessee and Kentucky followed by his precipitate retreat after the fight at Perryville. Lee's formidable invasion of Pennsylvania resulting in his defeat at Gettysburg and consequent retreat across the Potomac minus one third of the force he brought over from Virginia—these and many minor disasters have proved the futility of the rebel boast that they would dictate a peace from Philadelphia or New York. They do not at this hour hold an acre that they did not on the 1st of July 1861, while we hold half the area which was theirs before the battle of Bull Run. New Orleans, Memphis, Nashville, Knoxville, Baton Rouge, Vicksburg, Natchez, Newbern, Chattanooga, Brownsville and hundreds of places of minor consequence attest the steady progress of the National arms. Save the region of the Chickahominy there is scarcely a battle field of the entire struggle which is not this day under the flag of the Union. Such are the circumstances under which the Confederate Congress puts forth a long winded whine against the Unionists for making aggressive and unprovoked war upon them! They say:

'Commencing our new National life under such circumstances, we had a right to expect that we would be permitted without molestation to cultivate the arts of peace, and vindicate our chosen arena and with the selected type of social characteristics, our claims to civilization. It was thought too by many that war would not be resorted to by an enlightened country, except on the direst necessity. That a people, professing to be animated by a Christian sentiment, and who had regarded our peculiar institutions as a blot and blur upon the fair escutcheon of their common Christianity, should make war upon the South for doing what they had a perfect right to do, and for relieving them of the incubus which, they professed rested upon them by the association, was deemed almost beyond belief by many of our wisest minds.

* * * * * *

These reasonable anticipations were doomed to disappointment. The red glare of battle, kindled at Sumter, dissipated all hopes of peace, and the two Governments were arrayed in hostility against each other. We charge the responsibility of this war upon the United States.'

Such impudent drivel (and there are five columns of it) would not have been put forth had not the people yet under the rebel yoke been heartily sick of it and ready to give up the contest. The falsehoods which are piled upon each other in this address are such as only desperation could have prompted. They assure us that we are near the 'beginning of the end.'

CURIOSITIES OF EATING.—An old beau, formerly well known in Washington City, was accustomed to eat but one meal in twenty four hours, if, after this, he had to go to a party and take a second dinner, he ate nothing at all next day. He died at the age of seventy years.

A lady of culture, refinement and unusual powers of observation and comparison became a widow. Reduced from affluence to poverty, with a large family of small children dependent on her manual labor for daily food, she made a variety of experiments to ascertain what articles could be purchased for the least money, and would, at the same time, "go the farthest" by keeping her children longest from crying for something to eat. She soon discovered that when they ate buckwheat cakes and molasses, they were quiet for a longer time than after eating any other kind of food.

A distinguished Judge of the United States District Court, observed that when he took buckwheat cakes for breakfast, he could sit on the bench the whole day without being uncomfortably hungry; if the cakes were omitted, he felt obliged to take a lunch about noon. Buckwheat cakes are a universal favorite at the winter breakfast table, and scientific investigation and analysis has shown that they abound in the heat forming principle; hence Nature takes away our appetite for them in summer.

During the Irish famine, when many died of hunger, the poor were often found spending their last shilling for tea and tobacco and spirits. It has also been often observed in New York, by those connected with the charitable institutions that when money was paid to the poor, they often laid out every cent in tea and coffee, instead of procuring the more substantial food, such as meal, and flour and potatoes. On being reproved for this apparent extravagance and improvidence, the reply in both cases was identical; their own observation had shown them that a penny's worth of tea, or tobacco, or liquor, would keep off the sense of hunger longer than a penny's worth of anything else.—Scientific men express the idea by saying 'Tea, like alcohol, retards the metamorphosis of the tissues;' in other words, it gives fuel to the flame of life and thus prevents it from consuming the fat and flesh of the body.

If a person gets into the habit of taking a lunch between breakfast and dinner, he will very soon find himself getting faint about the regular luncheon time; but let him be so pressed with important engagements for several days in succession as to take nothing between meals it will not be long before he can dispense with lunch altogether. These seem to show that to a certain extent, eating often is a mere matter of habit. Whole tribes of Indian hunters and trappers have been known to eat but once in twenty four hours and that at night.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Interesting Letter from Gen. Buford

The following are extracts from a letter written at Helena, Ark., to an officer at Washington on the 11th of December last, by Brig. Gen. N. B. Buford, commandant of the post of Helena and of the District of Eastern Arkansas.

I have commanded in the Mississippi Valley for more than two years. I have not yet seen a man of fortune or standing in the South who was to be relied on as a Union man. We have the Mississippi river, and the rebels can muster no large force to oppose us.

The cupidity of traders on both sides causes the most shameful hypocrisy.

The wives of rebel officers of high rank come into the line take the oath of allegiance, sell cotton, and buy not only family supplies but stores for their armies. The owners of plantations go to Memphis, take the oath of allegiance, are permitted to represent five families and get goods in each name for at least $1,000.

Speculators get permits from the Treasury Department to deliver supplies and ship cotton, no motive governing them but cupidity. The result is, dishonest speculators who violate their oaths and the laws, make large fortunes; the enemy are supplied with all they can pay for, and not a friend is made for the Union.

The rebels hold the railroad from near Memphis to near Jackson, and with the supply obtained from our Merchant Princes, can, whenever they please, make a lodgement on the Mississippi, destroying our boats, by planting artillery, and would do so now, if it were for their interest. This would require the sending again of a large force to destroy them.

The guerrillas on the river are maintained entirely by the supplies delivered by our people.

My remedy is to enforce a strict blockade at Cairo and New Orleans, as at Charleston and Savannah.

Should the interest of humanity and the commerce of the free States demand that commerce with the enemy should exist, in order to get a supply of cotton, I would magnanimously make it free, except for articles strictly contraband of war.

It is said that the State of Arkansas is ready to come back into the Union. It is not true. Every slaveholder sticks to the institution as his only hope for future respectability and means of living. The non slaveholders are afraid of negro equality, and feel as savage a hostility to the race as animals that, by nature devour each other.

In my vicinity, a few of the slaveholders continue to live on their plantations, and feed and clothe their negroes, though they produce nothing, in the hope that slavery will be restored, while the greater portion of them have removed their slaves to the southwestern part of the State, or into Texas, Mississippi, or Alabama. No one yet submits to the idea of its abolishment.

I respectfully urge for your consideration, a free trade or a strict blockade. Either make friends or conquests.

THE NATIONAL CEMETERY AT CHATTANOOGA.—But little reference has been made in previous letters to the National Cemetery, now in process of completion; but a visit to it cannot but impress us with the importance of the work in a National sense. Already the preparation of the grounds is far advanced and about 500 bodies of deceased soldiers have been taken from other resting places and permanently interred here. Bodies are transferred to this cemetery at the rate of 100 per day. Lieut. Brown, of the 18th Regulars, and 200 detailed men are at work upon it daily, and it begins to present quite a neat appearance. The location is the best in the town, commanding a fine view of Chattanooga and surrounding country situated as it is upon a knob many hundred feet above the level of the Tennessee. The cemetery is now being inclosed by a solid stone wall, thirty inches thick at the base, and tapering to eighteen inches at the top. The wall is one foot beneath the soil and four feet high. On either side of this wall or stone fence will be planted Osage orange trees, which will add materially to the appearance of the grounds. The cemetery was laid out by Capt. McElfatrick, of Gen. Palmer's staff, and no two plats will be alike. Upon the summit of the knob the monument will be erected, the design for which has not been decided upon. In the center of each plat is a circular walk, inside of which officers will be interred, room being left for a monument to the fallen heroes. The stone enclosure is an irregular oval, suited to the ground, the total length of the wall being a mile and a quarter. Inside of this wall, and distant from it about ten feet, will be a carriage road running completely around the cemetery. Another carriage road runs around the summit of the knob, which has been laid out as a perfect circle. Carriage roads will also lead from the center to the outer gates on either side, and will be ornamented in a handsome manner. When the work was first entered upon under the superintendence of Chaplain Van Horne, of this post, there were those who supposed it would be a mere attempt to imitate Gettysburg, and that the cemetery would be but a temporary resting place for the noble dead, but when it became known that General Thomas was the moving spirit in the undertaking, its success was placed beyond a doubt in the minds of all, and we can safely inform our friends of the North that, in a few months hence the National Cemetery at this place will be the hallowed name of all that is mortal of the heroes of Chickamauga, Lookout Mountain, Wauhatchie Valley, Mission Ridge and Ringgold. Here nearly every State in the Union will be represented. Beneath the soil of Cemetery Knob, from which, on the memorable 25th November the brave Sheridan hurled his invincible forces to the support of the left and right wings, repose the loved ones who, from all points along the line have been gathered to their final rest while the soul puts on its immortality and blooms forever in the "Garden of our God." The work, it is expected, will be completed before the army moves from this point in the spring, but constant additions and improvements will be added from time. The dedicatory address will likely be delivered by Secretary Chase or Lieutenant Governor Anderson if their attendance can be secured.

PETROLEUM FOR STEAM BOILERS.—The report of a Commission appointed by the Navy Department to investigate the relative values of coal and petroleum in generating steam gives some important information on the subject. Petroleum possesses a higher evaporating power than coal, the gain being 103.1 per cent. Coal generates steam to 20 pound pressure above the atmosphere in sixty minutes—the oil in twenty eight minutes. The residuum left in refining the oil is used. A steamer such as the Persia starts with one thousand two hundred tons of coal—she could accomplish her trip with 575 tons of oil saving 625 tons space and in bulk personal labor and cost, $12,100. A war steamer with oil could keep at sea thrice as long as now and direct lines could be established without the necessity of coaling stations to Australia, California, etc. The present patentees are about to transfer their patent rights to a joint stock company now being formed in this city for the purpose of purchasing an ocean steamer and testing the use of coal oil in steam navigation.—New York Tribune, Feb 24th.

WASTE OF HORSES.—The wear and tear of war on horses is great—terrible. General Halleck says in his report that the waste and destruction of cavalry horses in our service has proved an evil of such magnitude as to require some immediate and efficient remedy. In the army of the Potomac there are thirty six regiments of cavalry, averaging for the last six months from ten thousand to fourteen thousand men present for duty. The issues of cavalry horses to this army for the same period have been as follows: In May 4,[illegible]; in June, 6,2[illegible]; in July 4,716; in August, 5,499; in September 5,327; in October 7,036. Total, 35,078. To this number should be added the horses captured.

A little boy kneeling at his mother's knee to say his evening prayer, asked leave to pray in his own words, and with childlike simplicity said: "God bless little Willie, and don't let the house burn up; God bless papa and mamma; God bless me and make my boots go on easy in the morning."
